

Don't miss it!

Come join us for a Battle Creek Community Open House and Dialogue to discuss Neighborhood Planning Councils

COMMUNITY BUILDER

A Program of Neighborhoods, Inc. of Battle Creek

The Battle Creek community, community leadership and all Neighborhood Planning Council (NPC) leaders are invited to an open house and community dialogue.

This meeting is an opportunity for the community and all Neighborhood Planning Council Leaders to be together to identify current issues affecting all NPCs and provide prospective new members some insight into the NPC program.

This community conversation will include a brief presentation of the purpose of Neighborhood Planning Councils including examples of some of the current activities of NPCs and suggestions about how residents can become more engaged in the NPC meetings and activities.

Facilitators will be Humanergy and the Non Profit Alliance (NPA), who will assist attendees in identifying future discussion points or issues to be addressed along with a brief question and answer session. Key topics that surface from this dialogue will be incorporated into Phase II of the leadership symposium.

- What?
Community Open House and Dialogue
- When?
Monday, March 5, 2012 at 7:00 PM
- Where?
Burnham Brook Community Center
200 W. Michigan Avenue
Battle Creek, MI 49017
- Who should come?
Any City of Battle Creek resident interested in becoming more engaged in their neighborhood
- Are Reservations Requested?
Yes, but not required. Please call
Neighborhoods, Inc. at: (269) 968-1113

Neighborhood, Inc.'s community partners for this project:

nonprofit alliance
at Kellogg Community College

CITY OF Battle Creek
MICHIGAN

Learn...

Why Neighborhood Planning Councils were created;

Listen...

To a presentation about some of the achievements of NPCs;

Participate...

In a facilitated discussion to de-mystify NPCs and to identify questions about their purposes and how residents of Battle Creek can become more engaged.